

A unique opportunity for incoming freshmen

The Bear River Fellows Program offers incoming freshmen at Utah State University a unique opportunity to undertake water and environmental research on the nearby Bear River.

- ◆ Experience the river first hand during a multi-day river trip.
- ◆ Meet other incoming freshmen.
- ◆ Interact with faculty and graduate students.
- ◆ Develop data collection, boating, and leadership skills.
- ◆ Get paid and Get credit to work with the field data you collect throughout your Fall and Spring Freshman semesters.

- ◆ May 20, 2015 – Applications due
- ◆ August 18-22, 2015 – River Trip
- ◆ August 25, 2015 – Connections Check In
- ◆ August 31, 2015 – Fall Classes and Paid Work Begin
- ◆ January 11, 2016 – Spring Classes and Paid Work Begin

Complete the Application Form available at: <<http://BearRiverFellows.usu.edu>>. Submit the application via Web form or e-mail by May 20, 2015.

The program is open to all incoming Utah State University freshmen at the Logan Campus.
The program requires a 1-year commitment through April 2016.

Dr. David E. Rosenberg
Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering and
Utah Water Research Laboratory
4110 Old Main Hill
Logan, UT 84322-8200
[BearRiverFellows@usu.edu](mailto: BearRiverFellows@usu.edu)

Bear River Fellows Program
<http://BearRiverFellows.usu.edu>

UtahStateUniversity

